

By Don Lail

After a period of several years I again find myself writing another column. The object of this is to try to give to those who haven't time to read the events of the world a summary of the world happenings of the last week.

Yanks and British Advance
German troops, four to five divisions strong, have thrown much resistance against advancing British and Yank forces, but they are only slowing temporarily the Allied advance. The great bombing of Italy by the Allied forces is the determining factor of this campaign. Liberators and Mitchells from their bases attacked air fields of the Axis in Greece. This is the first time Greece has been attacked from this theatre.

Germans Abandon Corsica
Berlin acknowledges that German resistance in Corsica has ceased. Corsica is valuable in the fact that it can be used as a springboard for a possible invasion of France. From Corsica the bombings of France and the Reich will be added greatly. Berlin says, "A troop movement has been concluded which as an operative masterpiece is only paralleled by the German divisions crossing the Strait of Messina." But regardless of how brilliant they claim this action to be they are still running. So let's keep them on the run and buy more bonds and stamps. "A stamp will help stamp out and lick the Axis."

Japs Use Barbarians' Methods
From the diary of a captured Jap soldier is the story of how a young American flyer was executed according to the "Samurai Code" of the Japs. From the diary are these excerpts: The Jap Lieutenant Komal faces the prisoner and says, "You are going to die. I am going to kill you with this Japanese sword according to the Samurai Code." The Jap Commander draws his favorite sword, the famous "Qasumune." First he touches the prisoner's neck lightly with the sword. Then he raises it overhead. His arm muscles bulge. The prisoner closes his eyes for a second and at once the sword sweeps down.

Army, Navy Announce Losses
The losses of our armed forces have reached approximately 115,000. Not including Salerno our casualties include:

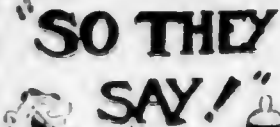

Killed, 10,682; wounded, 26,666; missing, 23,743; taken prisoner, 20,451.
At Salerno losses were listed: 1,451 killed, 5,213 wounded, and 1,736 missing. Of the 26,666 wounded 12,975 have either been returned to duty or discharged.

The news of Russia has been mostly "all" but they are giving their aid, too, so let's back the attack. The mud can't stop them long and soon we hope to hear of the last German being driven out of Russia.

This week has been an Allied week. We are pushing toward the finish but there is plenty ahead. Let's not forget the Japanese names of Komal and Tsukloka for they beheld the American Jap. Let's give the German and the Jap all they asked for including the interest which has been collecting.

Soldiers, Give Out!

All servicemen on the campus interested in contributing to The Kernel are asked to bring their material to the newsroom in the sub-basement of McVey hall.

Question: Would you support a "big name" dance given at the University?

Barbara Winters, A&S, junior: Yes, I'd be glad to support it.

Gene Mathless, Kinkadee hall: Yes, I think UK could swing a dance if the soldiers and students cooperated.

Pvt. Mike Floss, ASTP, Breckinridge hall: Sure, because the music is more nationally popular than that of sectional bands.

Billie Fischer, A&S, freshman: Yes, because back home in New York we're able to see a name band whenever we feel like it, and I miss it.

Legan Savage, Eng., sophomore: Definitely yes, because they know something besides "Stardust."

Pvt. Sam Feingersh, Breckinridge hall: Sure, a soldier likes to write home about the things he does and it sounds good. Also, they just appeal to me.

Pvt. Stewart Sommers, Bradley hall: I certainly would because I think it would be a lot of fun.

Fred Hill, A&S, sophomore: No, because our last opportunity went down the river in March.

Carolyn Hill, A&S, junior: Definitely just what the campus needs.

UK BAND TO BE ORGANIZED

Meeting To Take Place Wednesday

All University students with any experience whatsoever in high school or any sort of musical organization are asked to join the University band now being organized, according to Dr. Alexander Capurso, executive director of the Music department.

The band this year is based on an entirely different idea than previously, he said. No professional standing is anticipated; no set standards are to be met. The band will meet once a week to give all men and women students interested an opportunity to play together. If a sufficient number and variety of instruments are collected the group may appear at basketball games. No marching has been planned, Capurso added.

The organizational meeting will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday, at the Art center.

Officers will be elected at this time and a rehearsal period will be chosen which will, as nearly as possible, fit into everyone's schedule.

Dr. Capurso said he has planned a type of music to suit every musician, marches, classics, semi-classics, and current war songs written with band arrangements.

Improvement Plans For Campus Made

Plans to improve and beautify the campus are under way. Clyde Lilly, chief clerk of the University maintenance and operations, has announced.

Lilly said that in the spring, blue grass would be sown to cover the bare spots on the campus. He requested that students who wish to take short cuts across the lawn to get to classes should be careful not to follow old paths or encourage new ones, but to walk on a different plot each time.

During the summer, a new entrance was added to the side of the Union building to eliminate congestion at soldiers' mess.

US's UKs

Burton D. Levi, Chicago, Ill., has been transferred to the Army Air Forces Thirtieth College Training detachment at Xavier university, Cincinnati, Ohio, from Sheppard Field, Texas. There he will take a five months preparatory pre-flight course of military and academic training.

While a student at the University, Levi participated in the boxing and wrestling teams and received several trophies for wrestling. He was a free-lance writer before entering the army.

Paul Randall Marsh, who received his B.S. degree in bacteriology from the University in 1941, has been promoted to the rank of first lieutenant.

While in college, Lieutenant Marsh, Rustburg, Va., was a member of the Bacteriology club, German club, and the University band and orchestra.

After graduation he was a research bacteriologist with the Tennessee Eastman company, Kingsport, Tenn., until he entered the armed service. He was graduated from officer candidate school, Camp Berkeley, Texas, in 1942, and is now personnel adjutant at the Napher Field hospital.

"Will you leave me alone a minute—I'm trying to think of something to gripe about!"

STRICTLY PRIVATE

By Pfc. C. Edwin Barnes

With the return of the Camp Crowder boys to the campus came "The Last of the Mohicans." They too are Pfc's, which doesn't mean "censored for corporal" as Jim Moore maintains, but merely "praying for commission." We're all here and now both the Infantry and Signal Corps men are singing, "It Makes No Difference Now. . . We're All Engineers."

Most of us infantry men would still like to know what signals they called enabling them to stay in Columbus for an extra week. We know for a fact that George Kelly called for a rush right Over Center of town, seeking a six letter lead. . . blonde! Moreover, "Juji" David and Bert Cheek called for a PASS out in a cabaret. Others selected Broken Field Running after Ohio State co-eds. At any rate there's a reward for that last Quarter-back in Columbus.

but we haven't figured out just yet whether it is Tri-Delt Miriam Cutler, Alpha Gam Joan Teiss, or Peggy Forman that has his heart on fire.

At the present "Tiddy" Bell is grounded at the Tri-Delt house, but his heart throbs Leslie Bruce has him flying so high that his application for the Air Corps has already been made. J. K. Thompson wasn't far behind. . . wonder who told him to go fly a kite?

BWOC Edith Weisenberger seemed uninterested in her SUB meeting last Tuesday. . . what was it, something about "too bad so and so wasn't a junior."

Back in the old town last week was none other than "Slop" Guthrie to collect some SAE jewelry. Kappa Marg Freeman made some remark about her present flame being in the Air Corps as a cavalry pilot. . . you know, pile it here, pile it there.

Now that Bill Wichman was made temporary company commander, perhaps Honorary Cadet Colonel Adalin Stern will be allowed to date her Pfc. Says Bill, "Everybody returns to the campus with a commission, all we do is return."

But, let's go on to more intelligent subjects. Do you think Daisy Mae will catch Lil Abner on Sadie Hawkins Day? If William please call me Bill! Caywood doesn't learn how to run faster, Alpha Gam Ester Nevitt will catch him long before then. By the way, why isn't that good Kentuckian named Yukum in the Army. . . he ought to be at least in the ASTP.

Sigma Chi Bob Whitley and Chi Omega Fernmore say together they are taking thirty hours. . . most of them after midnight, but don't get me wrong, they love school. . . it's the classes that are so troublesome.

ODK Johnny Kerr was greatly perturbed when his Analytics teacher separated him from Eleanor Van Arsdell. "Oh, I've known her for years," smiled John. "We have mutual interests, physics and mathematics."

Big Richard Webb must think it's Spring, he certainly looks happy.

Ad Libbing

By Betty Tevis
Betty Lee Fleishman

All morning we squirm in classes jammed with bored people whose nerves are so frayed that we sometimes watch their faces in fascination, waiting for them to let out an ungodly yell and fall to the floor in a dead faint.

The teaching of these frustrated multitudes falls to a noble few who sometimes manage to restrain homicidal impulses and maintain a perfect composure over inner turmoil. Nerves are taut and minds are restless. Tense is the keynote of the strained atmosphere.

slam our beat-up notebook shut with a bang. We stride out and breathe the fresh crisp air of October.

Then what do we do? That's right, we go to the grill and go quickly insane trying to beat our way through the big lugs in the mob before the counter. At the same time, too, we are selling last year's psychology book to Mary Zooks, telling Wilbur how glad we are he is coming back to school this quarter, smiling ovelly at the buck private from Indiana, and asking a sweet young thing halfway down the counter to pass the mustard in the name of all that's good and holy.

games before the regular basketball games this winter at the Alumni Gym? We guarantee that the girls would present a good show if not an excellent performance of basketball skill. How about it, Coach Rupp?

But all morning, we curl our impulses to jump out the window to the ground two stories below. "Now, now, Betty," we say to ourselves after a surreptitious glance at Joe Bonk's watch. "Only 37 minutes more of this. . . ." We censor our own thoughts at this point and grasp our pencil in a grip of steel, hanging on to our sensibilities for those few moments ahead. "If only we can survive, then all will be over. . . ."

Thought of the week: Why not have the WAA girls' basketball team play the preliminary

Said one junior commando: "At the close of this current term I hope I take my basic training before being given my furlough. Then I'll actually be in the Army and will go home a hero!"

At the circus Monday night we expected our little friend, Annie Rooney, to come out into the ring with the other clowns - Zero impersonating a hot dog and Annie chasing him with a jar of mustard.

In a letter to the coeds in last week's Kernel, a dear little soldier pointed out in preny words that the ASTP boys are not wolves. In his next sentence he said that they all have leashes on. Isn't that slightly contradictory?

The bell rings and we gather our ponderous volumes and ment (such as the new Mouse Trap Destroyer, M1943). Further evidence was submitted by two privates who complained that they were kept awake all night by one little mouse who was noisily eating a bag of peanuts that had been left on a desk. The cracking of the shells was enough to simulate an artillery barrage. It was said.

Commenting on Willie's sad demise, Pvt. Wilbur, sage and prophet of Company B, remarked:

Second Battle Of Lexington Is Fought At Bradley Hall

ment (such as the new Mouse Trap Destroyer, M1943). Further evidence was submitted by two privates who complained that they were kept awake all night by one little mouse who was noisily eating a bag of peanuts that had been left on a desk. The cracking of the shells was enough to simulate an artillery barrage. It was said.

Commenting on Willie's sad demise, Pvt. Wilbur, sage and prophet of Company B, remarked:

The best laid plans of mice and men gang aft agley

And let us nought but pain for promised joy."

Well, what could be?"

Little did Bobby Burns know, when he wrote his classic verse years and years ago, that one Indian Summer evening of 1943 it would come to describe a battle scene at the University, where fearless warriors of the Army Specialized Training Program are waging the Second Battle of Lexington with a spirit that almost makes the Minute Men of '76 and Bunker Hill look like a bunch of sissies.

There is every reason to hope, however, that the mouse invasion can be checked, because one private accidentally discovered what may prove to be the greatest secret weapon of the war—a virtual booby trap.

We hope the disclosure of the mouse invasion will not set maiden hearts aflutter and disrupt the even tenor of campus life. However, if henceforth any fair maid fears to go about the campus alone, Company B—to a man—hereby volunteers for convoy duty.

To get to the heart of the current matter, we must proceed with delicate caution, since the scenes to be described are rather gory, as befits a great battlefield.

One venturesome mouse, it seems, came upon a box of that nationally advertised chocolate medicine that the kiddies just love to take and that has largely supplanted the distasteful and offensive bottle of castor oil in most well-run American households.

What we don't love is the amount! We want more, or at least second helpings.

Far Be It For Us . . .

There are mice in Bradley Hall, and they are likely to sweep over the campus at any moment!

Dear Editor:

We have no wish to cast slurring remarks upon the quality of University property. Furthermore, we have likewise no intention of frightening innocent, pretty young maidens into picking up their skirts and scrambling atop tables and professorial desks. But the blunt, brutal truth is—

First news of this new enemy movement was relayed by fearless scouts of an advance patrol of Company B, 1548th ASTU, who reported mysterious scratchings within the walls of Bradley, indicating that the grey-clad warriors were bringing up heavy concentrations of artillery and mechanized equip-much, but when you meet girls coming down the stairs saying "I'll meet you in the grill in five minutes for hamburgers, I'm still starving," you begin to wonder about the situation.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke"

Seriously, we all know how hard it is to get food for us and we can go without butter on our bread at noon, but we can't walk the miles we do each day and eat as we do. After all, the price was raised this year and we want to eat what we pay for.

We gripe a lot about standing in line for 45 minutes—that's not exaggerated. I timed myself—for dinner, or breakfast or lunch, but if we were sure of getting enough to eat after we got to the kitchen we wouldn't mind the waiting.

Perhaps our mothers fed us too

HUNGRY.

Have a "Coke"= Come, be blessed and be happy

...from Idaho to Iceland

Have a "Coke," says the American soldier in Iceland, and in three words he has made a friend. It works in Reykjavic as it does in Rochester. Round the globe Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes—has become the ice-breaker between kindly-minded strangers.

Ticket Books Out The Window

When students presented tuition payments at registration last week they got a definite feeling that something had been subtracted. This sentiment materialized into several inquiries to The Kernel this week to the effect: no athletic book, why no reduction in fees?

Many students have regarded the ticket book as something due them, a commercial paper by sale of which they recouped a substantial part of their tuition. And with such a thought in mind the monetary-conscious feel that a cut in fees is in order.

Most of the student body have vaguely seen "the fees" as made up of various sums definitely allocated for The Kernel, the Union, the Student Government association, athletics, and other University activities.

But such is not the case. The Board of Trustees decides upon the amount necessary for each student to pay and then divides the sum equally among the four quarters of the year. If athletic contests are scheduled, the Board allows part of the fees for admission tickets to the games. If no games are to be played, as in the summer quarter, the fees remain the same.

In clearing up the situation as regards ticket books, President Herman L. Donovan told The Kernel: "The fees for any quarter of the year are $35, and if we have athletics we give the students tickets. We will have basketball and the students will be given admission tickets to the games. If we had had football they would have been given tickets to those games."

"The administration, the athletic committee, and the coaches endeavored in every way they possibly could to have a football team this fall. We investigated the possibility of using soldiers on our team and the War Department ruled this out. Since there were no men available who could play football it was not possible to have any games this fall."

We Abandon A Principle With A Cry Of Remorse

Many of the old traditions have gone from the University. Today's freshman knows not what a frosh cap looks like. The Thanksgiving battle with Tennessee over the battered keg has been postponed indefinitely. No longer does Clifton Pond resound with the struggles of the frosh and sophs in the annual muddy tug-o-war.

But through the years one matter of campus tradition has remained inviolate. It is a tradition dear to the hearts of all Kernels. Through years of woe and upheaval this one never-changing principle has stood as evidence that at least one thing in this world could be depended upon.

It falls to us today, however, to abandon for the duration the clarion cry of The Kernel. Kernel editors have appealed to the conscience, the sympathy, the honor of University students for years to give heed to its behest.

We must now reverse our policy. Our decision is neither hasty nor mulling. We have surveyed the campus carefully. In marching groups of soldiers we have found a problem, and we hesitate not to furnish the solution.

We give up with reluctance our admonition to "KEEP OFF THE GRASS." We were ten minutes late the day we tried to get to class by walking on the sidewalk.

What Goes On There...

By Helen Carroll

A Word to the Wise Is Sufficient

With a sudden clang of the fire bell at 1 o'clock in the morning a head resident in one of the residence halls at Purdue university awoke instantly. She dashed out of the room expecting to find some horrible catastrophe only to be confronted by a sleep-walking freshman. When asked what and where she was going, she muttered that her roommate was around someplace.

Finally the pajama-clad freshman, still sound asleep, was rather gently led back to bed. She and her roommate now place good solid pieces of furniture in front of the door to prevent any more such exits.

Could Be?

LSU now has another lake. (So says "The Reville.")

This little brand new lake started life modestly as a small ditch over which sweating—not perspiring, sweating—physical education students had to jump in the obstacle course. But aspiring for greater things the little ditch began to grow.

Aided by shoes which pushed in its sides and by rains which flooded it, the little ditch grew, and grew, and grew. Not only did it grow wider but it cut deeper into the earth (poor earth). When the students missed, and they generally did, they left with feet covered with the gooiest mud ever created by human labor and sweat (not perspiration). Thus the little ditch achieved its ambition. Everyone now admits that it is a full fledged lake, and the physical education instructors are thinking of taking a water safety course.

Quick Work and How!

"The Plainsman" of Auburn reports that a young soldier was noticed wearing ribbons for service in most of the theaters of operation as well as the Purple Heart and several other decorations. An M.P. was a bit leery as the soldier appeared rather young and quite resembled a rookie. The M.P. stopped the young soldier and asked him where he won certain of his decorations. The young hero proudly said "Why I won them all in a crap game."

P.S. He was relieved of his newly won honors.

One in a Million and He Ain't for Sale

Conducting classes in freshman history besides regular journalism courses, handling the publicity of Emory university, and rereading proofs of a book about to be published is enough to bring absent-mindedness to any professor. (Surely you don't think that is any excuse.)

Dr. R. B. Nixon of the Journalism department, overflowed with work last week, gave his class a treat by forgetting about a quiz due that day. The same week he missed an IRC meeting where he was to talk on "propaganda and international communication" through failure of the committee to remind him.

Remember, fellow students, we can't be too critical of our dear professors. They just naturally can be expected to measure up to us in certain things. (Sounds good, anyway.)

Second Of Qualifying Tests For ASTP, V-12, To Be Given

Dr. M. M. White
To Give Exam
Slated Nov. 9

The second qualifying test for the Army Specialized Training Program and the Navy College program V-12, will be given at the University on Tuesday, November 9, the day which has been set for the nation-wide examination.

Dr. M. M. White, acting assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, will give the examination, and a pamphlet of general information which contains an admission-identification form may be obtained at his office, Room 9, in the Administration building.

This form, properly filled out, will admit to the test students between the ages of 17 and 21 inclusive who are recent high school graduates or who will be graduated by March 1, 1944. Intent to take the test should be made known immediately to Dr. White, in order that necessary test supplies may be ordered.

The same examination will be taken by both Army and Navy candidates. The examination is designed to test aptitude and general knowledge required for the program of college training and all qualified students are urged to take the test. At the time of the test each candidate will be given a choice of service preference, but taking the test does not obligate the candidate to enlist in the service.

The Army Specialized Training program and the Navy College program enable students to continue academic training at government expense following induction into the armed services. Successful completion of the prescribed courses may, following further officer training, lead to a commission in the Army or the Navy.

FITNESS PLAN BEING TAUGHT MILITARY MEN

ASTP, ASTRP
Given Serious
Sports Program

Physical Fitness programs for both the ASTP and the ASTRP boys are now in full swing, according to a statement by Charles W. Hackensmith, acting head of the physical education department.

The main point of the program is to build up the boys for combat warfare. This is accomplished by constant running of the obstacle course, calisthenics, and jaunts around the track on Stoll field.

Besides these toughening-up exercises, the boys actively participate in basketball, softball, volleyball and touch football. Each section takes these games seriously, and as a result, the boys are not only building themselves up, but they are enjoying the play tremendously, Hackensmith said.

In the future the ASTP group will take another of the strength tests, the first of which was given upon their entering the University. The test will include pushups, chinups, and other similar activities. They will be graded on the improvement they make over the first test.

But you can try!

Just ask the Emile Hegys what The American Spirit means

They know how precious is this thing that ONLY AMERICANS HAVE... for they fled a land where it never existed

Emile and Marie Hegy were born and wed in Alsace-Lorraine when their country was under the heel of a conqueror.

In May 1924, they freed themselves from the political and economic uncertainty that governed their daily lives and came to America.

Emile started work as a common laborer in the L & N car shop at Birmingham, Alabama. Soon there came a proud day when he and Marie became full-fledged citizens in a land where individual rights and freedoms were guaranteed.

On December 7, 1941, war came to America... their America now. That day found the one-time "common laborer," Emile Hegy, a valued L & N veteran in a good paying job, earned on merit... a thing that would have been impossible in a land where men's lives are lived under government decree and a common laborer must remain a common laborer until he dies.

Hardly before war was declared next day, Emile and Marie Hegy bought a $1,000 Defense Bond, the first $1,000 bond sold that day in Birmingham. Then, as fast as they could convert investments into cash, the Hegys bought more bonds. Today, a substantial part of every L & N pay check to Emile Hegy goes for the purchase of still more War Bonds.

Emile and Marie would tell you that they are buying all the War Bonds they can afford for TWO reasons. One is to help beat Hitler and Hirohito. The other... to help make sure that America will keep the priceless American Spirit alive.

That is the Spirit that laid the railroads, dug the mines, built the factories that make possible our arsenal of freedom today. It is the Spirit that will never die, so long as we remain free to strive in our own individual ways, for our own individual betterment.

J. Ball
PRESIDENT
LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE RAILROAD

The L & N, like other railroads that share in the wartime marvel of transportation, is a product of The American Spirit. Inspired by that Spirit, our nation has grown strong because free men have been able to invest their savings in productive industry. Every person has progressed under the right to bargain, individually or collectively, every person has been free to earn a just reward for energy, ability and initiative. It is that Spirit, nurtured on these freedoms, that holds the hope of a better world tomorrow... a tomorrow in which the L & N will continue to contribute to the certain development of the South.
